INDS 305 EASTON TECH SCRIPT

Hello and congratulations on your upcoming graduation. I am Harold Kudjec, CEO of Easton Tech. I founded Easton Tech in late 2020 with my colleague Brie Easton who will answer all of your questions today.

I am a parent to 9-year-old twins whose school required them to attend school virtually for most of the pandemic but there were times where they were invited back to the classroom, sent home again, and brought back in during unprecedented times of ambiguity in our country and the world due to Covid 19.

During this time, I realized that most K-12 classrooms are still significantly under-developed in technology solutions overall, less proficient with new realities about students who learn from home, and even less proficient with technology solutions that support students with disabilities. I have a daughter with a disability, so the topic is personally meaningful to me.

We build smart classrooms that are technologically advanced, and we are fast growing and in high demand.

We have just over 35 employees today but are looking to expand. We have competitive wages, a teamwork-based culture, and big, important jobs. The work is fast-paced and we haven't figured everything out yet—that's why we need you!
